Knobbe and Masimo assert each of the following General Objections to the Subpoena and the Definitions, Topics and Requests for Production listed therein. In addition to these General Objections, Knobbe and Masimo also assert objections to specific Topics and Requests for Production of Documents below. By setting forth such specific objections, Knobbe and Masimo do not intend to limit or restrict its General Objections.

1. Knobbe and Masimo object to each and every request on the ground that they seek discovery that is not related to any claim or defense in this action.

2. Knobbe and Masimo object to the time and location for the deposition set forth in the Notice.

3. Knobbe and Masimo object to Apple’s requirement that the deposition continue from day to day until completed, and to the extent that any deposition becomes duplicative or otherwise unduly burdensome in its duration. Any deposition of any individual designated pursuant to this Notice shall not exceed seven hours.

4. Knobbe and Masimo object to Apple’s definition of “Masimo” as vague and ambiguous, particularly to the extent it purports to cover “Masimo Corporation and all of its predecessors (merged, acquired, or otherwise), successors, subsidiaries, parents, sisters, divisions, departments, partnerships, and affiliates thereof, and all officers, directors, principals, agents, employees, attorneys, and other persons acting on its behalf.” To the extent Apple’s definition is understandable, Knobbe and Masimo also object to Apple’s definition as overly broad and unduly burdensome. Unless noted otherwise, Knobbe and Masimo are interpreting “Masimo” as Masimo Corporation.

5. Knobbe and Masimo object to Apple’s definition of “Sound United” as vague and ambiguous, particularly to the extent it purports to cover “Sound United, LLC (a/k/a Masimo Consumer) and all of its predecessors (merged, acquired, or otherwise), successors, subsidiaries, parents, sisters, divisions, departments, partnerships, and affiliates thereof, and all officers, directors, principals, agents, employees, attorneys, and other persons acting on its behalf.” To the extent Apple’s definition is understandable, Knobbe and Masimo also object to Apple’s definition as overly broad and unduly burdensome. Unless noted otherwise, Knobbe and Masimo are interpreting “Sound United” as Sound United, LLC.

6. Knobbe and Masimo object to Apple’s definition of “Cercacor” as vague and ambiguous, particularly to the extent it purports to cover “Cercacor Laboratories Inc. and all of its predecessors (merged, acquired, or otherwise), successors, subsidiaries, parents, sisters, divisions, departments, partnerships, and affiliates thereof, and all officers, directors, principals, agents, employees, attorneys, and other persons acting on its behalf.” To the extent Apple’s definition is understandable, Knobbe and Masimo also object to Apple’s definition as overly broad and unduly burdensome. Unless noted otherwise, Knobbe and Masimo are interpreting “Cercacor” as Cercacor Laboratories Inc.

7. Knobbe and Masimo object to Apple’s definition of “Related Publications” as vague and ambiguous, particularly to the extent it purports to cover “all patent applications related to the Masimo Asserted Patents and any patents in the same family as any of the Masimo Asserted Patents.” To the extent Apple’s definition is understandable, Knobbe and Masimo also object to Apple's definition as overly broad, unduly burdensome, and not proportional to the discovery needs of the case.

8. Knobbe and Masimo object to Apple's definition of "Inequitable Conduct References" as vague and ambiguous, particularly to the extent it purports to cover "all references that are the subject of Apple's inequitable conduct allegations in this case." To the extent Apple's definition is understandable, Knobbe and Masimo also object to Apple's definition as overly broad, unduly burdensome, and not proportional to the discovery needs of the case.

10. Knobbe and Masimo object to Apple's definition of "Nellcor Prior Art Products" as vague and ambiguous, particularly to the extent it purports to cover "all pulse oximeter and/or watch products made or sold by Medtronic before September 22, 2020." To the extent Apple's definition is understandable, Knobbe and Masimo also object to Apple's definition as overly broad, unduly burdensome, and not proportional to the discovery needs of the case.

11. Knobbe and Masimo object to Apple's definitions of "person" as overly broad, unduly burdensome, not proportional with the needs of the case, and inconsistent with the requirements of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure.

12. Knobbe and Masimo object to each request using the term "relating to," "related to," or "relate to," or other derivations thereof as overbroad, vague, and ambiguous. Knobbe and Masimo further object to each use of this term to the extent that it requires subjective judgment and speculation on the part of Knobbe.

13. Knobbe and Masimo object to Apple's definitions of "you," "your," "yours," and "Knobbe" as overly broad, unduly burdensome, not proportional with the needs of the case, and inconsistent with the requirements of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure.

Knobbe and Masimo object to the Topics and Requests for Production to the extent they seek information protected from disclosure by the attorney-client privilege, the attorney work product doctrine, common interest privilege, or any other applicable privilege or immunity. The specific objections stated below on the grounds of attorney-client privilege, and/or work product in no way limit the generality of this objection. Nothing contained in these objections should be construed as a waiver of attorney-client privilege, the attorney work product doctrine, common interest privilege, or any other applicable privilege or immunity. To the extent that any Topic may be construed as calling for disclosure of information protected by such privileges or doctrines, a continuing objection to each and every such Topic is hereby interposed.

16. Knobbe and Masimo object to the Topics and Requests for Production to the extent they seek information or materials of any third-party that is confidential and/or proprietary, protected under a standing protective order, and/or otherwise protected from disclosure.

17. Knobbe and Masimo object to the Topics and Requests for Production as overly broad and not proportional to the discovery needs of the case, to the extent that any Topic or Request for Production seeks information not known or reasonably available to Knobbe or outside the possession, custody, and control of Knobbe, including, requiring Knobbe to seek information about persons not currently employed by or associated with Knobbe, or to provide or seek information regarding third-parties.

18. Knobbe and Masimo object to the Topics and Requests for Production as overly broad and not proportional to the discovery needs of the case, to the extent that any Topic or Request for Production seeks information that is already in Apple's possession or readily available from another source that is equally available to Apple.

19. Knobbe and Masimo object to the Topics and Requests for Production to the extent they call for legal conclusions, legal contentions, and/or expert testimony.

23. Words and terms used in these objections shall be construed in accordance with their normal meaning and connotations, and shall in no way be interpreted as terms of art or statutorily defined terms, and Knobbe and Masimo specifically disavows any such meaning or connotation that might be accorded to such terms.

24. These objections are made solely for the purpose of this action. Each objection is subject to all objections as to authenticity, competence, relevance, admissibility, and any other objections that would require the exclusion of any statement contained herein if such statement were made by a witness present and testifying in court. All such objections and grounds are reserved and may be interposed at the time of trial.

25. Any restatement of one or more of these General Objections in a specific objection shall not be construed as a waiver of any other General Objection.

26. Knobbe reserves the right to change their position that they will produce a witness on any given topic to the extent the parties agree to limit remaining fact discovery in this litigation.

27. Any statement that Knobbe will designate a witness competent to testify on a Topic should not be construed as a representation that Knobbe has any relevant information on that Topic but merely that a properly designated witness will testify to any relevant and non-privileged corporate knowledge that he or she has obtained by making reasonable preparations for the deposition.

28. To the extent that Knobbe states that it will provide testimony responsive to a Topic, such statement should not be construed as a representation or admission that the information, documents, or things referenced or requested in Apple's Topics are relevant to any claims or defenses in this case, or that they are admissible at trial.

Knobbe and Masimo incorporate by reference its General Objections. Knobbe and Masimo also object to this topic on the grounds that it seeks information protected from discovery by the attorney-client privilege, attorney work-product doctrine, or other applicable privilege or immunity. Knobbe and Masimo also object to this topic as overly broad, unduly burdensome, and not proportional to the needs of the case because it seeks information not relevant to any party's claim or defense. Knobbe and Masimo further object to this topic as vague and ambiguous with respect to the phrase "Inequitable Conduct Reference." To the extent "Inequitable Conduct Reference" is understandable, Knobbe and Masimo further object to this topic as overly broad, unduly burdensome, and not proportional to the needs of the case as it seeks "all references that are subject of Apple's inequitable conduct allegations in this case." To the extent "awareness" means knowledge of the Inequitable Conduct References for the purpose of establishing inequitable conduct, Knobbe and Masimo object to this topic as seeking a legal conclusion. Knobbe and Masimo further object to this topic as overly broad, unduly burdensome, and irrelevant because it is unbounded as to time.
